And here is a picture of the modern auction warehouse of today where the same type of leaf tobacco is sold on the open market to the highest bidder.

There is no substitute for mild, ripe tobacco to make a good cigarette—and there never will be . . . and that is the kind we buy for Chesterfield Cigarettes.

In the tobacco buying season Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. buyers will be found at 75 markets where the Bright type of tobacco is sold, and 46 markets where Burley and other types of tobacco are sold.

All these tobacco men are trained in the tobacco business, and are schooled in the Liggett & Myers tradition that only mild, ripe tobacco is good enough for Chesterfield Cigarettes.

LEGISLATORS FROWN ON NEW TAX PLEAS

Late Developments Knock Roosevelt Budget from 2 to 3 Billions Out of Kilter.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Despite the gaping holes torn in the Roosevelt budget there was little disposition on Capitol Hill today to provide new taxes at this session unless the administration demands them.

Within 10 days, developments have arisen that threaten to knock the Roosevelt fiscal program from $2,500,000,000 to $3,500,000,000 out of kilter. The AAA decision by the supreme court left huge gaps in the revenue and congressional plans for paying the bonus would add to the expense. More damage to the President's estimates may be forthcoming later.

But administration leaders on the hill remain non-committal over the prospects of new taxes, or go further and forecast there will be none except to finance a new farm plan. Opposition forces are critical but are not yet demanding new taxes.

Determination of the tax question depends to a large extent upon administration plans for a new farm program. It is generally believed by members of congress that this will involve new taxes and that they may to some extent cover up the hole in the budget created by the supreme court's AAA decision.

Administration chieftains have taken the position the bonus will not require new taxes. They have worked out a system for paying

GOODYEAR AND SEARS CASE HEARING ENDS

Federal Courts May Act If Commission Decides Against Tire Company.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The federal trade commission's long hearing on citation of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws was over today.

For three years the case has been under way and if the commission decides against the company a further battle in the federal courts probably will take place.

A Goodyear contract to make tires for Sears, Roebuck & Co. was the center of the fight. Commission counsel contended the mail order concern had an advantage of 21 per cent or more in prices over Goodyear dealers on comparable tires through the contract.

The company attorneys contended the price discrimination was much less than that and was justified because of the volume of Sears' business with Goodyear.

E. H. Hayeroff, commission counsel, said in his closing argument that the contract created a "dangerous tendency" toward monopoly in the rubber industry. E. H. Hayeroff, Goodyear counsel, denied the company had violated any provision of the Clayton anti-trust act, and asserted there were more dealer outlets in existence today than when Goodyear started making tires for Sears under contract.

"When Old Man Winter hit these parts he found me fixed for easy starts"

IF YOU'RE TIRED of coaxing a stubborn motor to get up and go—if you are tired of grinding away on your starter until you pull down your battery—here's something you'll want to know!

We have stepped up the firing qualities of X-70 gasoline until it kicks over your motor at the flash of the spark. And we have made SOHIO Motor Oil an oil that hardly seems to know when winter comes! This new SOHIO is always light, always ready to let the coldest of cold motors start. It's the "body" that an oil must have to fight winter.

Yes sir! With X-70 gasoline and SOHIO Motor Oil, you have a combination that gets you going in a hurry. And it's a combination that keeps you going at the lowest possible cost. Then, too, X-70 users avoid carbon trouble because X-70 has contained no carbon solvent since 1932. X-70 sells at "regular gas" price and SOHIO Motor Oil is only a quarter a quart (Plus Tax).

the policy distinguished between political propaganda and political information. Radio time for the former will not be sold until after the political conventions have been held. Radio time for the latter, however, will be granted free at the discretion of broadcasting officials, whose editorial judgment will be the deciding factor.

Fundamentally, the policy is sound, insofar as it respects the broadcasting companies the right to sell time according to their judgment of what is deserving of time. But it is questionable whether or not radio's spokesmen have represented their present situation accurately.

Obviously, politicians will not be willing to make the same distinctions on the same equitable basis which broadcasting officials presumably will employ. Consequently, radio will be in trouble constantly. But unless radio licensing is protected against partisanship better than it is at present, trouble will be unavoidable. Until that obstacle is removed, radio necessarily will have to seem to be riding two horses while really depending on only one of them for support. Radio broadcasting never can be entirely free until it is relieved of the necessity for worrying about its exercise of freedom.

A Little Softer.

Rumor, some of it apparently originating at sources close to the executive offices in the White House, hints that President Roosevelt might find this or that bonus bill acceptable. Many suspect with good cause that Mr. Roosevelt may have a working understanding with his party's congressional leaders on the handling of bonus legislation in the current session.

Officially, President Roosevelt is committed firmly to opposition to prepayment of the bonus. His previous statements on the matter leave no room for doubt. In a strongly worded veto message on the Palmun bill, passed by both houses of congress last spring, he concluded his reasons for rejecting the measure with these words:

"I believe the welfare of the nation, as well as the future welfare of the veterans, wholly justifies my disapproval of this measure."

In his veto message Mr. Roosevelt denied that veterans had any right to special legislation in their favor. He pointed out that the failure of congress to provide additional taxes for payment of the bonus would in itself warrant disapproval of the measure.

The record gives Mr. Roosevelt no latitude in which to waver without direct damage to his prestige. Apparently, he is trying to accommodate himself to the pressure of circumstances which have made congressional approval of a bonus bill inevitable. His seeming inclination is based on the assumption that it is the best of all possible worlds. It is the betrayal of his real attitude. A few words would be sufficient to prove that the President believes his reasons for vetoing the bonus in 1935 are as sound in 1936 as they were then.

Two Methods.

Supreme court justices who voted with the majority in the AAA decision must be keeping or perhaps chuckling behind their legal papers over the rumormongers they have heard among certain self-styled liberals. They must be wondering what a liberal really is.

Their decision in the Homing Mills case was that if the United States is going to regulate agriculture according to the theory of the agricultural adjustment act it must obtain from the electorate certain powers not present in the Constitution. They decided, in effect, that the issue of increasing federal authority should be decided by ballot.

The minority's decision, freely blessed by the same liberals who curse the majority for its conservatism, says that the issue of increasing federal authority should be decided by appointed judges, who would make the Constitution accommodate the disputed question without permitting the electorate to give its decision. In the long view, it is the minority which is conservative and the majority which is liberal, as far as preservation of popular government is concerned.

In the same connection it is significant that a few careful thinkers, who are as sincerely interested in the farm problem as those who want to take out their spite on the supreme court for ruling against the AAA, believe the adverse decision will benefit agriculture. In their opinion, the necessity of devising a new plan will free agriculture of the bad features of an act adopted in haste and enable the government to substitute a permanent system of equalization based on true conservation of land.

The situation reveals the essential difference between two methods of procedure, one calling for aggressive action without respect for existing limitations and the other calling for action within the boundaries of established practice. Why the first procedure should be called liberal is a current mystery that cries for solution.

It Almost Happened.

Apparently, posterity is going to be given another tense moment in history to read about in shivering wonder. Already there is a fairly substantial legend of how war between Great Britain and Italy was averted Oct. 17, 1933, by only a few hours of negotiation.

As frequently in the case, the world knew almost nothing of its imminent danger at the time. The incident is one of the "how it can be told" type. Premier Mussolini of Italy, through France, warned the British that unless it changed its naval concentration plans in the Mediterranean he would order an attack on warships in Alexandria bay, on the coast of Egypt. A few hours later, the British ambassador plenipotentiary Mussolini with an announcement that his government would move some of the ships if Italy would move certain troops from Libya, where they were threatening British security in Africa.

Behind surface nations in Europe is the knowledge that Premier Mussolini believes in the ultimate replacement of Great Britain as chief empire builder by Italy. This is, for obvious reasons, a fundamental fact in consideration of everything which has happened recently and everything which threatens to happen in the near future. The world wonders what would have been the result of an attack on the British fleet in the Mediterranean. It is reasonably sure that an attack almost happened. At the moment of receiving the information it is no less sure that Italy can be grateful that its current master of destiny did not permit his ambition to crystallize in action prematurely. Great Britain, whatever Premier Mussolini may think of its decadence, still is a formidable enemy—too formidable yet for the dictator who plans to build upon its ultimate ruins.

Riding Two Horses.

Protest against the policy of the two broadcasting systems with regard to radio time for political speeches probably will resolve one of the important issues raised in the broadcasting industry.

The issue in its present state of emergence is over the right to use radio facilities for political purposes. Broadcasting officials have laid down the outline of a policy which necessarily is controversial. As stated and as commonly interpreted,

Courts' Powers Appear Secure

Change of Both State and Federal Systems Declared Necessary To Carry Out Radical Program.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1936, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Radicals in congress, disturbed by the AAA decision, are sponsoring bills to deprive the federal district courts and circuit courts of appeal of any power to declare laws unconstitutional, so that the supreme court of the United States alone would have the task of construing the validity of legislation.

Generally overlooked, however, is the fact that it isn't necessary to go through lower federal courts to get a judgment declaring a federal law to be unconstitutional. This can be done through the state courts as well. Indeed, from 1902 to 1915, a period of 13 years, the customary channel for the consideration of constitutional questions was through the state courts, from which the appeals were taken to the supreme court of the United States.

It might be thought that congress could pass a law depriving state courts, as well as lower federal courts, of any jurisdiction over federal statutes, but to accomplish this objective a constitutional amendment would be required. This is because article six of the federal Constitution expressly tells the judges of the states they must regard the Constitution as the supreme law of the land and must "be bound thereby."

To get a constitutional amendment which would disturb the entire judicial system of the 48 states of the Union would seem to be an almost insuperable task politically because, if the jurisdiction over state courts were placed in the hands of congress, the entire system of local government might break down.

It would seem to be futile then to pass a federal law curbing the jurisdiction of the lower federal courts to grant injunctions and pass on the constitutionality of federal laws when this would merely encourage all kinds of lawsuits in state courts whereby citizens would begin to sue each other to restrain the operation of laws believed to be invalid.

Take the Bankhead cotton control act, which is believed to have been thrown into the doubtful constitutional class by the words of Justice Roberts, speaking for the majority of the supreme court in the AAA case. The railroads are forbidden by federal law to accept cotton for shipment unless tagged in conformity with the Bankhead law. A cotton shipper in the state of Texas could sue a railroad of that state for damages for refusal to accept the cotton, and could argue that the federal law is invalid. This would raise the constitutional question and the railroad might be compelled by a lower court in Texas to accept the shipment.

Naturally, the matter would not be finally adjudicated (lit final appeal to the supreme court of the United States, but the opportunity for rendering inoperative a federal statute is just as great as if a lower federal court had restrained it. For as soon as one state court handed down a decision, similar suits would be started in other states and the precedent in the example given above would be cited and doubtless would have considerable weight.

The justice of the state courts have the solemn duty under the federal Constitution to examine every federal law, in a case arising under it, to determine whether the statute invades the constitutional rights of the citizen. This means laying the law alongside the article of the Constitution that has been invoked. All the decisions of the supreme court itself then are taken into consideration.

If the federal courts, with the exception of the supreme court, had no power to pass on the validity of laws of congress, the state courts would be piled up with suits. It is true the method of bringing constitutional questions to a head might be a little different in the state courts, but there are so many aspects of confined law in which challenges of constitutionality or invalidity might be brought that we would merely be going back to the more or less confusing circumstances that existed between 1891 and 1875.

If a constitutional amendment is adopted to deprive the supreme court of the power to declare invalid the acts of congress, it must be remembered that a restraint would have to be applied at the same time to all the state courts. This is but another way of saying that the states would have no redress any time a majority of both houses of congress, with the cooperation of a president, decided to take away powers of the states. The Constitution, for instance specifies just what are the powers of the federal government, but when there is no check—no tribunal to say whether transgression has occurred—there is an opportunity to question the acts of the central government.

When the American people understand what is involved in tinkering with the judicial system just to please a political outcry that happens to be in office, they will consider seriously the dangers of depriving the citizen of his day in court.

New York Notes

O. O. McIntyre's Diary of Fact, Fancy and Folks.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The pooh parade that reveals Manhattan's flair for dogs begins at 7 p. m. along Fifth, Madison and Park avenues. A daily kennel show in itself, with the pedigreed kiyoodles brushed and blanketed and conscious of their breeding.

Dogs can be made to reflect the superiority of their owners. The glossy Pom may not even glance at some shaggy biological lapse with perhaps a top ear or elongated tail. There are mongrelized coats, fur lined, collars studded with jewels, and leashes of actual silver.

The promenade may include two illustrious Katharines—Cornell and Brush, Mollie Mallory, Howard Chandler Christy and many others of headline quality. The canine range extends from the low-slung dachshund to the hip-high mastiff. And always a small flock of Bedlington lambs lowed by innocent Marys.

Then, too, there are those who take advantage of the period to air other sorts of pets. The radio singer with the domesticated fox. She calls it "Horece" and it barks back at dogs. The twin snow-white Siamese cats in double harness, and last but not least the lumbering star, "Junho," of the Hip.

It's what the mountaineers call a "fur place" for Harry Richmond back to the days when with his tiny while portable piano he was just another singing act in the cellar cabarets. Then, as now, much of his charm was his graciousness responding to encroaches. He seems tireless. And success has not caloused him to such response. Today there's nothing he likes better after his day's chore than to run through his songs for intimates. This willingness is almost an invariable trait of those who have reached the top rung. A reason they reach it, no doubt.

Nora Eayes was never so happy as when expressing herself in song, on stage and off. One evening at the old Sixty club when the crowd dwindled to a handful that was already retrieving wraps, some one suggested Miss Eayes sing just one song. This was about 3 a. m. and at 7 a. m. she was still singing, as fresh as the proverbial daisy. Not a soul had thought of leaving.

Perhaps the most generous of all with his talents without pay is Charlie Chaplin. He is his best when a party has spent itself and everybody is killing off yawns. He then picks it up, puts it on his feet and makes it something memorable for the ditty box. So much so, his screen efforts as excellent as they are, seem second rate. In these impromptu jets his versatility fairly staggers. Now a Japanese juggler, a Spanish dancer, a Chinese diplomat, a Russian immigrant, a French coquette, a Cockney flower seller and so on. Jabbering away in each tongue as though an expert linguist although scarcely knowing a word of any.

Ralph Barton once staged a party for Chaplin in his rue Nicolet house in Paris. Yvonne Prioleux was a guest. She spoke no English nor Chaplin French. Most of the guests were Americans so as a gag the French actress and Chaplin engaged in mild dispute at the table that soared into pyrotechnic outburst of shrieking imprecations, shoulder shrugs and a deluge of mutual tears. All done in French—that is her pure Gallic and Chaplin's linguistic fakery. Not a soul, save Barton, knew until next day it was delicious foolery.

For Ripley: Gene Buck knows an actor of 32 who does not say he is 39.

Language of the flowers note: They came out of Sherry's bar. A raccoon-coated collegiate and a dainty daughter of Nippon. Only her complexion and upward slant of her eyes betrayed her. Oriental strain. "Now, little Cherry Blossom shall we taxi or walk?" he beamed. She smiled archly and replied: "If you don't mind, big Sun Flower, we'll walk and not muse up our petals."

SEARCHERS FIND WRECKED PLANE IN DENSE SWAMP

Wrecked remnants of what once was a luxurious air liner were all that remained after "The Southerner," transcontinental American Airlines plane, crashed mysteriously in a dense swamp near Goodwin, Ark. Searchers are shown below as they looked for bodies of the 17 victims. The plane was a twin-motored Douglas, like that shown at top. (Copyright by Memphis Commercial Appeal—United Associated Press.)

HERMIT SOUGHT IN 4 MURDERS CAPTURED

Aged Man, Accused of Killing Kin, Found Hidden in Jamaica Cave.

By The Associated Press
KINGSTON, Jamaica, Jan. 15.—Cornered in a forest cave, an aged man wanted for quadruple murder, surrendered quietly to police of Montego Bay yesterday after he had been sought for four months.

Dirty and in tatters, with his beard trailing below his chest, Benjamin Williams was discovered accidentally by a farmer who came across the cave where Williams apparently had been hiding since the shooting of four relatives in September.

He had fled after allegedly killing his brother, Joseph, a niece, a nephew and a cousin in a fit of rage at Joseph's sale of some family lands while he was not at home.

When the farmer who discovered him fired a shot in his direction, Williams ran off in terror and police captured him without taking their guns from their holsters, although he was armed.

Approximately 50 Marion residents will take part in the show, which is being produced by the John B. Rogers Co. and directed by Miss Mildred Chapin.

The piano accompaniment for the songs and dances will be played by Mrs. Henry R. Stauffer. The auxiliary's share of the proceeds will go into the organization's general fund.

Common Sense about HEADACHE

Usually a headache is due to high nerve tension. At such times all you need is a little Capidine. This remedy is very effective because it quickly soothes tense nerves and eases pain.

Of course headache may come from more serious sources. Sometimes it may be an aberrant tooth, or some underlying cause which only your family physician can discover. Meanwhile, avoid suffering as much as you can by using Capidine.

Capidine's action is unusually quick because it is liquid and its ingredients are already dissolved. No narcotics.

County and N. C. O. Teams Have Crucial Games Friday

HARDING, ASHLAND, UNBEATEN IN LEAGUE, TO CLASH IN MARION

Several Rural Cage Squads Nearing End of Season, St. Mary Plays Saturday

A glumorous array of top level basketball games fills this week's sport calendar with an exciting round of encounters which fans should relish.

Scrapping for immediate and what may lead to ultimate supremacy of the N. C. O. Ohio conference leadership, the unbeaten Ashland and Marion High school squads will meet Friday night at the Shovel 3300 stadium. The two teams of the two schools which are to meet in a preliminary game are who the only undefeated squads of the league.

Reserve Teams Meet

Ashland was the only team which was able to score a victory over the Harding residents last season when the Marion team marched to a league championship. The reserve teams of the two schools were the first honors in the conference race.

Other N. C. O. games to be played Friday night are Mt. Vernon at Mansfield and Shelby at Gallon.

Marion St. Mary will be idle Friday night but is scheduled to journey to Urbana to play the RL Mary team of that city Saturday night.

Teams from 10 rural schools will furnish competition on courts throughout the county as the league enters its eighth round. Several of the teams have only one game remaining after this week's encounters. Tomorrow night will play a big part in determining the outcome of the county league race.

Prospect High's undefeated home team favored several days ago to win the game at Marion, has dropped back on even terms with its opponent. Several unexpected developments have done much to weaken the undefeated team's possibilities. Stanley Bricker, senior letterman and verily forward was confined to his home yesterday because of illness according to reports from Prospect. The reserve strength of the team has also been weakened by injuries. Both Edward Christensen and Harold Thomas, forward substitutes suffered twisted ankles in the game with St. Mary Parish in high Tuesday night.

Chilodon Advances

Chilodon's victory over Agoston Wednesday night increased its percentage to 533 with five victories in six games. Should the Prospect team be defeated in either of its two remaining games on the schedule, the Chilodon quintet could knock the league race by completing its season without a defeat.

Other county league games this week are Marion at Waldo, Pleasant at Laledonia, Chilodon at Kirkpatrick and Linton at Green Camp.

Teams in the Marion district are also busy engaged in preparing for games scheduled Friday night. Among the games booked are Chilodon at Gardenton, Dole at Forest Salem at McChesneyville and Norwalk at Willard.

Saturday night games include Cridlington at Cridlington, Crestline at Norwalk, St. Mary and Marion Central Junior High at Marion Edison Junior High.

1936 Holds Prospects Of Close Race For Pennant

PENNANT HOPES

AL SIMMONS

COCHRANE SAYS AL WILL STRENGTHEN THE TEAM'S BUILDING FLAG

ONE OF THE RED SOX ACQUISITIONS... HIS FAIR PLAYING HOPES

JOHNNY ALLEN

Prospects of the highest American League pennant race in years have the baseball fans of several cities all steamed up now that spring training has begun.

Boston's baseball fanatics are most enthusiastic and with good reason for good old Tom Yawkey that big money man from the Hub has gone on an other of his lavish spending sprees, and the Red Sox will have a few celebrated new stars this season.

Fox, Cramer, McNamara and Marcus acquired from the Athletics are certainly sure to make the Red Sox pennant contenders and the flaming Iffoe also made a throw move in getting the veteran Heinie Manush from Washington.

Manush, a former batting champion had a poor season in 1935 but the change is likely to do him a world of good and if he comes within 20 points of his old hitting mark, Heinie will be a most valuable addition to the Boston outfit.

Detroit fans also have something to cheer about in the purchase of Al Simmons, an old sidekick of Mickey Cochrane and one of the greatest hitters in modern baseball history.

Cochrane is sure that Al will flash his old slugging magic this season and Mickey insists that with Simmons on deck the Tigers will be so greatly strengthened that they can turn back the challenge of the revamped Red Sox.

New York, Jan. 15.—An eastern Landon drive for President Roosevelt was launched yesterday by Albert Ottlinger, former attorney general of New York, who called for the nomination of the Kansas governor as the Republican presidential choice.

Ottlinger declared Gov. Alf Landon would be the only man in the country who could win the election if there was popular demand for him. He said Landon was the only man in the country who could win the election if there was popular demand for him.

For a last three years a Landon organization on behalf of Landon and Roosevelt for the presidential nomination also became apparent today.

Louis and Retzlaff Pick Selves To Win Tomorrow

The 15-round engagement, but the campaign to get Retzlaff steamed up and keep him that way was to last until fight time.

Both fighters had made the customary pre-battle statements.

"I am ready for Retzlaff," Louis said. "I will be in there to give my best. The quicker I score a knockout the better I'll like it. What's the use of fooling? I want to get it over as fast as I can."

"They can pick Louis to win," the North Dakotan said. "but I'll show them that he can be hit and hurt. Down in my heart I know I have what can beat him—a right to the jaw."

The weighing-in ceremony will be held tomorrow at noon, instead of the usual 2 p. m., and in a gymnasium instead of the athletic commission offices. The shift was approved because the commission quarters were too small to accommodate the expected crowd of spectators.
